Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 19 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy for most with some drizzle at times.

Today:
An overcast start, with some mist and hill fog. Remaining rather cloudy throughout, with further drizzle or light rain likely, mainly in the east through the morning. A few brighter spells in western Cumbria. Mild in the west, cooler elsewhere. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying rather cloudy overnight, with only Cumbria likely to receive any clear spells during the evening and before dawn. A few light evening showers in the south but otherwise dry. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Saturday:
A dry and generally cloudy day. Any bright spells confined mostly to the north and still a slight chance of drizzle. Turning breezy during the evening. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Cloudy on Sunday, with the odd spell of drizzle or rain. Turning breezier into next week and staying generally cloudy with further chiefly light rain at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.